Late War Bulletins.

NEW YORK, March 12.—A plan whereby cargo tonnage can be created in this country "faster than Germany can sink it" has been devised by F. Huntington Clark, an American engineer, according to an announcement here before a joint session of the Automobile Club of America, the Aero Club of America and Motor Boat Club of America.

The new type of vessels, it was said, could be built in great numbers quickly, at small cost and of diminutive size and would have such low visibility, as compared with the great steel ships now afloat, that it could be seen by a submarine at barely more than a third of the distance at which the 10,000-ton steamship now is detected.

In addition, it was asserted the new craft, impelled entirely by motor, would offer a small mark, would be more easily maneuvered in event of an encounter, and because of its small draft of eleven to thirteen feet, torpedoes that ordinarily would sink the larger vessels of steel construction, would "pass idly beneath."

It was estimated that 1,000,000 tons, or 1,000 vessels of 1,000 tons each with a speed of nine knots, could be built at a cost of $100,000,000 in a year. These boats would be 185 feet over all, with thirty-six-foot beams.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The American government has begun actual preparations for arming American merchantmen against Germany's ruthless submarine warfare.

Shipowners having been notified of President Wilson's decision that he has full legal authority to proceed with this policy, details were taken up so there might be as little delay as possible in granting requests for defensive armament.

When vessels sail under the policy of armed neutrality they will do so with the full backing of the administration, expressed in the form of war risk insurance, of naval guns and gunners.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The mere appearance of a German submarine or its periscope in the presence of an American armed merchant vessel would entitle that ship, according to State Department opinion, to take all measures of protection on the presumption that the U-boat's purpose was hostile.

Under this ruling, an American armed merchantman could fire on a German submarine the moment it is sighted without being considered as taking aggressive action.

This view is based on Germany's declared intention to sink on sight within certain zones all vessels, neutral as well as belligerent, and whether passenger vessels, freighters or contraband-carriers.

ST. JOHNSBURG, VT., March 12.—"If a United States merchant ship sinks on sight a German submarine, as I hope she will," said former President William H. Taft at a meeting here, "the next step will be up to Germany. If, however, the submarine sinks an American ship, the next step will be up to the United States."

Mr. Taft, who explained the purposes of the League to enforce peace, said the decks of an American ship were as inviolable as American territory.

W. S. M. TO CONVENE.

The sixth annual session of the Women's Missionary Society of the Kentucky Conference, Methodist church, will convene at Fort Thomas, Ky., today, Tuesday, March 13, and will continue in session through Thursday. The following from Paris will attend the meeting: Miss Mollie Ford, delegate from the local auxiliary; Miss Edith Hancock, delegate from the Girls' Society; Mrs. H. A. Power, president of the Paris Adult Society; Mrs. C. O. Hinton and Miss Laura Lilliston, Conference officers, and Mrs. T. J. Flora.

SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE.

The Interdenominational Sunday School Institute of the State will be held in Millersburg this week, beginning today, and continuing through Thursday. A large number of visitors are expected to attend the meetings. Rev. Geo. A. Joplin, of Louisville, Secretary of the Kentucky Sunday School Association, and Mr. Thomas B. Talbott, of Lexington, formerly of Paris, Sunday School Missionary of the Presbytery of West Lexington, will be among the speakers.

N. M. TOWN MOTHERS' CLUB.

The Mothers' Club of North Middletown met in regular session Tuesday afternoon, and elected the following officers: Mrs. Magnus Rash, president; Mrs. L. D. Mitchell, vice-president; Mrs. J. W. Jones, secretary-treasurer. The Club is considering plans for opening a Kindergarten Class. Twelve members have been appointed to raise the necessary funds. The Club will produce "Tom Thumb Wedding" about April 15.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE CLOSSES.

The Farmers' Institute, which was inaugurated at North Middletown under the auspices of the North Middletown Commercial Club, closed an interesting three-days' session in that city Saturday. The attendance was very good and a great deal of interest was manifested in the proceedings. Miss Mary E. Sweeney, of Lexington, who was on the program for a talk, was unable to be present, having undergone an operation at the Good Samaritan Hospital, in Lexington, for appendicitis.

An unprogrammed talk provided an unexpected feature of the closing day of the Institute. Mr. James H. Thompson, one of the leading farmers of the county, uttered a vigorous protest against the proposed new tax law, using the time allotted to Hon. Reuben B. Hutchcraft, who had expected to defend it, but who was detained in Frankfort.

Mr. Thompson took the ground that the proposed system was devised by non-farming interests, and would result in a heavier burden for owners of real estate and the exemption of "special interests." He said that he had devoted ten years to the study of the tax problem, and marshalled an impressive array of statistics to support his contention. Unless the proposed law should be radically amended, he declared that it would result in "the legalizing of highway robbery, and the shifting of real estate of the remaining fifteen per cent. of the taxes that make up the total revenue of the State."

He said that he did not charge that the authors of the bill were not honest men, but that they had been made the "dupes of special interests seeking to escape from any taxation whatever." He said that he believed that Mr. Hutchcraft had come to a realization that an alliance with the farmers was not an alliance with the farmers. Mr. Thompson had been in Frankfort for several days, arguing his proposition before the members of the Legislature.

The closing address of the Institute was delivered by Dr. H. H. Cherry, president of the Western Kentucky Normal School at Richmond. The proceedings were brought to a close Saturday night with a concert by the Chatham Concert Co., of New York, who rendered an interesting musical program to a delighted audience of several hundred.

MR. THOMAS ANNOUNCES FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

In this issue of "THE NEWS" Hon. Claude M. Thomas, of near Paris, announces to the voters of the county his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Representative in the Legislature from Bourbon County.

Mr. Thomas is perhaps as well known to the people of Paris and Bourbon County as any man within its borders, and a perfunctory introduction would be unnecessary. He has represented the county in the Legislature as Representative, and again as State Senator, and in those capacities he gave his time and attention to the duties of the office he filled with signal ability and fidelity. As a farmer he understands the needs of the agricultural element of the Bourbon County citizens, and would always be found fighting for their interests. Mr. Thomas is fully equipped for the office of Representative and will enter upon an active campaign at once.

BOURBON CIRCUIT COURT.

The March term of the Bourbon Circuit Court convened yesterday morning, with Judge Robert L. Stout presiding, and Commonwealth's Attorney Victor Bradley at his post.

The Grand Jury, composed of the following, was impaneled and sworn in: John Brennan, foreman; Dr. D. S. Henry, W. T. Redmon, Grant Galloway, A. B. Lovell, John Davis, John L. Soper, Allison Barlow, John Lair, George Hill, Charles J. Lancaster, R. H. Mattox.

Judge Stout's charge to the grand jury was along the line of preceding ones, cautioning the grand jury to fully investigate any and all forms of violations of the law in the city and county, with especial reference to violations of gaming and local option laws.

The grand jury, after hearing the charge of Judge Stout, retired to their rooms, where after a short deliberation, they adjourned until this morning at nine o'clock.

BOURBON MEN JURORS IN FEDERAL COURT.

Judge Cochran, of Maysville, convened the March term of the Federal Court at Frankfort yesterday. The criminal docket is an unusually large one. Among the men summoned for jury service were R. P. Hopkins and E. P. Weathers, of Bourbon, on the grand jury; Lawrence Horton, Edward Prichard, A. J. Fee, J. Frank Clay and W. J. Calvert, of Bourbon, on the petit jury.

Among the actions-at-law to be tried in the Federal Court are those of D. D. Cline vs. Curry, Tunis & Norwood; D. D. Cline vs. J. H. Batterton; D. D. Cline vs. Power Grocery Co., all from Bourbon County.

THREE COUNTIES QUARANTINED BY LIVESTOCK BOARD.

An order was issued from the office of the State Livestock Board at Frankfort, Friday, placing in strict quarantine the counties of Bourbon, Bullitt and Nelson, and prohibiting the movement of hogs into either or any of these three counties for purposes other than immediate slaughter. This action was taken by the State Board because intensive hog cholera control work looking to the eradication of hog cholera has been started in these counties.

The quarantine order will affect all other counties in which hog cholera exists, and in which the work of eradication will begin. The eradication of hog cholera is being conducted by the State and Federal authorities.

Hogs which have been examined by a Federal, State or county livestock inspector at point of origin and found to be free from the infection of hog cholera and exposure thereto may be shipped into the three counties for any purpose. Dr. H. M. Hamilton, County Livestock Inspector for Bourbon County, is in charge of the situation in this county, and will see that the quarantine is rigidly enforced.

HEAD OF "ANOTHER TICKET FOR SHERIFF" GETS SORE.

In the last issue of THE BOURBON NEWS several political announcements appeared. We tried to say something nice about each individual that was running for office and had given us his announcement.

For the past eighteen months there has been considerable talk of an "opposition ticket" for Sheriff, to the present incumbents, Messrs. W. G. McClintock and Ollie Marshall, with Mr. Robert Gilkey added as a deputy. Numerous tickets have been suggested and on the eve of announcing, at the last minute they all got "cold feet." Feeling assured that when the McClintock ticket handed in their official announcement that there would be no opposition, we prepared the customary complimentary notice calling attention to it, and we made it a little strong, as we believed the boys deserved the best that could be said about them. However, the day after the notice had been put into type, ANOTHER ticket had been formed to take a chance. They brought in their announcement. As customary, we attempted to say something nice about them, and to modify the elaborate notice we had already in type about the McClintock ticket, but in marking out the cream of the "bull" we failed to lift out the last sentence on the following lines:

"Mr. McClintock, who heads the ticket, has worked untiringly for all the nominees who have been candidates in the past on the Democratic ticket, and has spent both time and money freely to defeat the Republican who may have had the nerve to try and defeat a good Democrat in Bourbon County. He is fearless, honorable and efficient, and 'Will G.'s word is taken as his bond. He should not have opposition."

Mr. Clarke, who is financing the new ticket, is very much incensed at the "He should have no opposition," and thinks that we should make a correction, and in fact, demanded it. If he could not get it in THE BOURBON NEWS he would get it elsewhere. In reply we told Mr. Clarke that we would take the matter under consideration and would probably explain it to the readers of THE NEWS why we had said that Billy McClintock "should have no opposition."

After considering the matter thoroughly, we have decided to grant Mr. Clarke's DEMAND, and to say, "that if we have said anything we are sorry for, we are glad of it."

The Income Tax Payers.

March first for most of us is a date with no special significance, save as the traditional beginning of spring. For those with sizable incomes, it is the date when returns must be filed with the collector. The income-tax payers should smile cheerfully. They are exceptionally blessed. Nevertheless most of them show signs of irritation at the law's complexities, and complain that their neighbors are commonly exempt from its exactions.

Of course the law still has eccentricities. When a man buys a bond for $1,000 and sells for $1,100, he is taxed for his profit. When he buys for $1,000 and sells for $900, he can't deduct his loss. Says Uncle Sam, "Heads I win, tails you lose."

The proceeds under the law have been lower than was generally expected. It raised the question whether fair returns are being made.

Tax laws have been evaded from time immemorial. It is not likely that the new statute created more honesty than previously existed. Many of the State laws have been made or enforced on the theory that falsehoods would be told anyway. If people were assessed about five times a fair amount, it was in effect figured that they would lie out of the surplus, so that the result would be fair. Such inequities have created a feeling that these fits are in a different class from others.

The income tax payer will feel better to lay his cards down on the table and pay accordingly. There ought to be a new viewpoint about taxes. It is time for a gentleman's argument between the law-making power and the property owner. A tax should be a debt of honor. Legislatures and Congress should make a more serious effort to have taxes equitable. It is not sufficient justification for a law that it is a good revenue producer. If it is fundamentally wrong, it creates habits of dishonesty that in the long run costs high.

Desertion of Families.

Charitable societies are reporting a large number of cases of abandonment of families the past winter. In some cases women are left destitute by reservists who went back to Europe to fight. But it has been noted for some time that desertions are getting more common.

The societies make the curious statement that these cases are most frequent either in very hard or very good times. In the former the husbands become disheartened and simply lie down under the load. It's cowardly, but some men are built that way. In good times men get distant jobs unknown to their families. They may long have wanted to duck the yoke for a fresh start.

The poor man who breaks a marriage vow is perhaps influenced by the loose family relations of the present time. He reads about the socially elect in the divorce colonies, and thinks he has even better justification. That is, of course, no excuse. The divorcee at least gets her alimony, supposed to heal all wounds, though often it doesn't. But if marriage were more thoroughly respected in high life, the influence would be felt in all social strata.

Family abandonment nowadays is a prominent cause of poverty. Many poor women will go hungry rather than admit that they were foolish enough to marry a sneak. Charitable societies have to be discriminating, though. The deserter may be merely over in some other town, faithfully and industriously sending home his pay envelope regularly. Meanwhile his thrifty wife may be drawing supplies regularly from the municipality and the societies as a pathetic grass widow.

The lot of the genuine abandoned wife grows more and more pitiful. The costs of supporting herself and little ones multiply. But the pay of washerwomen keeps about stationary. Police authorities should reach out the long arm unrelentingly for these sneaks and sharps, and make them realize that there is a God in Israel.

CONFIRMED TESTIMONY

The Kind Paris Readers Cannot Doubt.

Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test.

The test of time—the hardest test of all.

Thousands gratefully testify.

To quick relief—to lasting results.

Paris readers can no longer doubt the evidence.

It's convincing testimony twice told and well confirmed.

Paris readers should profit by these experiences.

Mrs. J. T. Martin, 124 Main street, Paris, says: "Kidney trouble came on from a fall and the results were very severe, causing me more suffering than the fall itself. No one can ever know what I went through at that time for I suffered awfully. My back ached and pained until I thought it would break in two. Sharp twinges shot through my kidneys and if someone had hit me in the back with a heavy axe, I wouldn't have known the difference. In one week after using Doan's Kidney Pills, I felt like a different woman, for they greatly benefited me." (Statement given February 17, 1908.)

RESULTS THAT REMAIN.

On November 9, 1916, Mrs. Martin said: "Doan's Kidney Pills have made a cure for me and it has been permanent."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Martin has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. (adv)

BOURBON FARMING CONDITIONS.

Continued bad weather has been the means of retarding farm work in this county, and as a result the farmers have had very little chance to get their spring work forward. It has been a very hard winter on the agriculturists, their stock, and crops. Old-timers say that not in many years has there been so severe a winter. This setback will require extra labor on the farm. Labor has been very difficult to procure, and that in spite of the fact that farmers have been offering the highest wages ever known for this kind of labor.

Repeated reports have it that serious damage has been done to the wheat crop in the county as a result of the recent alternate severe freezes, zero weather and thaws, and at times when there was not sufficient snow on the ground to protect the wheat. There is an increased acreage in the county this year and the farmers are depending on about the same prices as were paid shortly after the bulk of the crop was sold last year.

There appears to be plenty of feed yet in the county, but it is high, especially corn, which has brought as high as $6.80 per barrel in the crib. Hay has been selling from $16 to $20 per ton. The lambing season is on and farmers have reported considerable trouble in saving them. Much attention is being given to the flocks at this time of the year, in order to save both the ewe and the lamb.

An Illinois inventor has built a life size human figure of steel that draws a miniature wagon and is having one built that will be nine feet tall and correspondingly powerful.

MOTHER! YOUR CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH, FROM CONSTIPATION.

If Tongue Is Coated, Breath Bad, Stomach Sour, Clean Liver and Bowels.

Give "California Syrup of Figs" at once—a teaspoonful to-day often saves a sick child to-morrow.

If your little one is out-of-sort, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally look, mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full direction for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a fifty-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Religious Statistics of Japan.

According to statistics furnished by a Tokio news agency as official, there are 15,000,000 Shintoists, 30,000,000 Buddhists and 164,000 Christians in Japan, which leaves some 20,000,000 with no profession of faith or otherwise unaccounted for. The returns also show one Shinto priest to every 200 adherents, but only one place of worship to 30,000. The Buddhists have one place of worship to 400 and one priest to 250. The Christians have one place of worship to 120 and one priest to seventy-five.—East and West News.

PECULIAR AFFLICTION OF PARIS GIRL.

One of the most peculiar cases of disordered optical nerves that has come under the observation of local physicians, was noted recently by a Paris optician. The afflicted one is a pupil in the Paris High School, a fourteen-year-old girl, named Josephine English, daughter, of John English, of this city.

The girl's vision is just exactly the opposite to that of the ordinary person, and was discovered by her teacher when examining a lesson in writing written by the child. In writing her name or the words of a lesson, the child begins at the right side of the sheet and writes toward the left, however commencing with the first letter of each word. For example, in writing her name or a number of words in a lesson it appears as follows:

.hsilgnE enihpesoJ

.yam

.yas

.yatS

To read the writing rapidly one must hold it in front of a mirror. The girl writes a fairly good and legible hand, and is as bright otherwise as the average school child of her years. A Paris oculist says the peculiarity is caused by the distortion of the optic nerves in that they do not properly cross each other in the line of vision between the eye and the brain, and that so far as he knows there is only one other case mentioned in the medical records.

BLIZZARD "BURNED" WHEAT.

Kentucky wheat fields which look as if the plants, after having made good growth, had been scalded or burned, attest the unexpected severity of a February blizzard which was marked by little snow in proportion to the wind and low temperature.

The statements of Western Kentucky farmers, and observation in this section of Kentucky will tend to create the belief that the wheat crop in this State will be extremely short this year. If the "burning" of wheat by a gale with a temperature around zero is general—and the storm was general—the price of wheat will be affected seriously, but it should not be forgotten that a great part of the wheat area in the United States is in latitudes in which an early fall of snow, which never is melted away entirely, protects wheat from hard frosts and low temperature until spring. Canada and the northern States were not injured by the February storms. It seems probable that wheat was killed in a comparatively narrow belt between the latitude of early and lasting snows and the latitude of weather less severe than that which Kentucky experiences, and in Kentucky it was killed chiefly in well exposed places such as western slopes.

The blizzard probably will not affect the price of wheat. Forty years or so ago Ohio valley farmers fancied that an August rise of the river which killed the corn would create something like famine. It did not raise corn prices at all, in the general market.

RANK FOOLISHNESS.

You occasionally see it stated that colds do not result from cold weather. This is rank foolishness. Were it true colds would be as prevalent in midsummer as in midwinter. The microbe that causes colds flourishes in damp, cold weather. To get rid of a cold take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is effective and is highly recommended by people who have used it for many years as occasion required, and know its real value. Obtainable everywhere.

FAMOUS COUNT ZEPPELIN DIES IN GERMANY.

LONDON, March 12.—Count von Zeppelin, the inventor, died Thursday morning at Charlottenburg, near Berlin, from a lung affection. The deceased celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday at Stuttgart in July. At that time he was convalescing from an attack of bronchitis. He received thousands of congratulatory messages from all parts of the German Empire and from the Emperors of Germany and Austria and the Sultan of Turkey. He served with the union forces in the United States during the Civil War. He subsequently became a balloon enthusiast, but it was not until he was 70 years of age that he became famous as the builder of the world's first practical dirigible balloon. Before he became famous he spent all his personal fortune, amounting to nearly a million dollars, in air experiments. The Count was born in Constance, Baden. He fought in the Austro-Prussian and Franco-Prussian Wars and was made a General at the age of 42. He retired nine years later to devote his time to the study of aeronautics. Zeppelin made his first balloon ascension in the U. S. during the Civil War and his interest in aeronautics dated from the time of this incident. He was a

Saves Eggs

Royal Baking Powder makes it possible to produce appetizing and wholesome cakes, muffins, cornbread, etc., with fewer eggs than are usually required.

In many recipes the number of eggs may be reduced and excellent results obtained by adding an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, for each egg omitted. The following tested recipe is a practical illustration:

SPONGE CAKE

1 cup sugar
½ cup water
3 eggs
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup cold water
1 teaspoon flavoring

DIRECTIONS:—Boil sugar and water until syrup spins a thread and add to the stiffly beaten whites of eggs, beating until the mixture is cold. Sift together three times the flour, salt and baking powder; beat yolks of eggs until thick; add a little at a time flour mixture and egg yolks alternately to white of egg mixture, stirring after each addition. Add ½ cup cold water and flavoring. Mix lightly and bake in moderate oven one hour.

The old method called for 6 eggs and no baking powder

HAD PENCHANT FOR ROBBERING CHURCHES.

NASHVILLE, TENN., March 12.—Church robberies that have mystified Nashville police for a week were cleared up recently by the confession of John Lightsinger, a tailor, that he was the robber. He said that during the week he had robbed eight churches.

Among his booty was a piano, and after he had sold it to a negro he had to walk back two miles to the church and steal the piano stool, because the negro insisted it was part of the bargain.

He stole the baptism suit of Rev. C. L. Skinner twice, taking it the second time after its owner had recovered it from a pawnshop.

MEXICO-GERMAN WIRELESS PART OF TEUTANIC PLOT.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Information has reached the Government from a semi-official source that through the perfection of a powerful wireless telegraph plant in Mexico City, direct communication between the Mexican capital and Germany has been established.

Officials realize that if confirmed this news is of great importance, and an investigation has been ordered. Through connection by Mexico with the land telegraphs leading into the United States, Germany would be able to obtain complete exemption from the censorship which now is imposed upon its communications by the American Government at the wireless stations at Sayville and Tuckerton, and by the British and French Governments in their control of the Atlantic cables.

Far-reaching possibilities thus would be opened for the violation of American neutrality or even the menacing of the national safety in the critical situation existing. Sea raiders and submarines might be directed, and full information concerning the departure of ships from American ports furnished. German agents in this country might keep in close touch with Berlin, and in case of war even more serious results might follow.

From other semi-official sources information has reached Washington that secret meetings are being held by Germans in Vera Cruz and in Monterey to determine upon uniform action by Germans in Mexico in the event of an outbreak of war between the United States and Germany.

LEAVE WELL PERSONS ALONE

Physicians of Opinion That It Does More Harm Than Good to Set Up a Cause for Worry.

The question whether doctors should treat sick men or well men rent the serenity of the New York Academy of Medicine, says the New York Times. The debate started over a discussion as to how to doctor up Americans so as to make this the most efficient of nations. The doctors were no nearer a solution of the problem when they adjourned than when the discussion began.

After a prolonged discussion of the proper remedies for the presence of inefficient persons in the community, in which it was prophesied that the day was coming when it would be fashionable to be examined, physically and mentally, every now and then, Doctor Meltzer said: "That will only make people sicker—to examine them. Do you know why a dog doesn't die? I'll tell you—a dog never knows why he is living and that he is going to die; after he's dead, he doesn't know it; therefore a dog never dies. People go on for years living orderly lives until somebody, maybe an insurance doctor, tells them they have something the matter with them, and, thenceforth, until they reach their grave, they are sick. Let the physician treat the sick and let the well alone. It is time more was done for the sick man. The doctor's job is with the sick man."

WHITE HOUSE DINNER IN 1802

President Jefferson's Fare Is Described in an Interesting Manner by Guest at His Table.

Manasseh Cutler, the founder of the Ohio colony, and father of the ordinance of 1787, kept a diary all through his public life and it is now in the possession of Charles G. Dawes. It contains an account of a dinner at the White House, given by President Jefferson February 6, 1802, to which Mr. Cutler and six members of the house were invited.

Mr. Cutler, according to the Columbus Dispatch, wrote that there was "rice soup, round of beef, turkey, mutton, ham, loin of veal, cutlets of mutton or veal, fried eggs, fried beef, a pie called macaroni, which appears to be a rich crust filled with strifillions of onions or shallots, which I took it to be; tasted very strong and not agreeable."

Mr. Lewis told me there was none in it; it was an Italian dish and what appeared like onions was made of flour and butter with a particularly strong liquor mixed with them; ice cream, very good; crust wholly dried, crumbled into thin flakes, a dish somewhat like pudding, inside white as milk or curd, very porous and light, covered with cream sauce, very fine.

"Many other Jim-cracks, a great variety of fruit; plenty of wines and good. President social. We drank tea."

Just Enough.

Mandy, who was a housemaid and black, arrived late to begin her duties one morning and her mistress inquired as to the cause of delay.

"It's sorry, Miss Clara; indeed I is!" stated Mandy. "But I jest natchally couldn't get here no sooner'n what I is got here. I been at the party give by the Sisters of the Mysterious Ten at the Cullid Odd Fellers' hall, right up the street. They started in dancin' and carryin' on last night and they's still in full swing. You never seen so many folks packed in one little hall in all yore bawn days; and right now, ef you'll poke yore head outen yore side winder you kin hear them folks whoopin' and laughin', and hear the orchestral playin'."

"Wasn't it rather tumultuous, Mandy?" asked the lady of the house.
"Oh, none!" said Mandy. "Hil wuzn't a bit too mulchous—jest about mulchous enough!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Grimy Heroes.

"I can recall no story that would be as interesting or appealing as that of a stoker on a battleship," said George B. Ward. "Just think of those grimy heroes, who sweat and grind 50 feet under the water, without the sight of anything except roaring fires. They never know when the enemy is near and is ready to send a torpedo through the sides of the ship. They never know, until the report of the explosion comes, when a mine has been hit by the venturing man-of-war."

"Much praise has been lavished upon the gunners, the captains and the admirals, but little has ever come to the stokers and others who slave and grind out their very lives that the battleship may proceed with all dispatch upon its hazardous course."—Birmingham (Ala.) Age-Herald.

When Novels Were Really Long.

Though William De Morgan wrote some of the longest novels of recent times, his efforts were consciousness itself compared with the works of some of the seventeenth century romances. Mlle. De Scudery's once famous story, "Le Grand Cyrus," for instance, fills five folio volumes of 500 pages each in the English translation; and her contemporary, La Calprenede, was even more diffuse, his "Cleopatre" running into 23 volumes. The leisurely methods of the early novelists is well illustrated in "Parthenissa," by Roger Boyle, earl of Orrery, in which the eight hundredth page finds the two chief characters still engaged in the process of introducing themselves to each other, begun on page one.

Auction Bridge was played, the highest score being made by Mrs. Edward Burke, who was awarded first prize. At the conclusion of the games luncheon was served in the dining room, the guests being seated at a round table, which was encircled with a band of green satin ribbon. On the center of the table was a large silver bowl of white narcissus, and the lights were from green tapers in silver candle holders tied with green tulle bows. The covers were marked with small green flags, the ices and candies of the same color.

Mrs. M. J. Lavin will be hostess of the Coterie Club for the next meeting at her home on Walker Avenue. (Other Personals on Page 5)

PENNY LUNCHEONS FOR PARIS SCHOOL CHILDREN

One of the busiest places in Paris for five days in the week, at the noon hour, is the office of Mrs. Harriet Minaker, Visiting Nurse of the Bourbon County Health & Welfare League, in the Varden building, on Main street. Here the children of the Paris Public Schools who care to avail themselves of it are served substantial penny lunches. The enterprise has proven satisfactory in every way.

The plan was started on January 19 by Mrs. Minaker, and was designed principally to provide hot lunches for the children who otherwise would have none.

It has become so very popular that its provisions have been taken advantage of by other children who have been going there for the novelty of the thing as much as anything else. The lunch is furnished free to the children who cannot afford to pay for it, while there is a graduated scale ranging to a few pennies for those who can afford it.

The menu is varied every day, but everything served is of a wholesome, health-building nature, comprising soups, sandwiches, etc., and to say the children have been enjoying it is to put it very mildly, indeed. The establishment of the service was made possible through the generosity of a philanthropic friend of the children, who realize how much some of them lacked the proper nourishment and how welcome these hot lunches would be to them after the confinement in the school room. It is a certainty that the plan will be carried out again next year, and it is possible that it may be carried further, and made a part of the school system. It would not be at all amiss.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

CENTRAL KENTUCKY MILLERS' MEETING AT LEXINGTON.

Mr. B. M. Renick, of the Paris Milling Co. president of the Central Kentucky Millers' Association, presided at the meeting of that organization held in Lexington, last week. Representatives of forty milling companies were present at the conference, which was held in the Phoenix Hotel.

The morning session was taken up with discussions of the various phases of the milling business. The economy of using wheat flour as compared with other foodstuffs, was discussed at the afternoon session. Plans were formulated to give wider publicity to the advantages which wheat flour possesses. The officers of the Association are: B. M. Renick, Paris, president; Andrew Cain, Versailles, vice-president; W. H. Warren, Richmond, secretary.

STREETS CLEANED.

As there seemed to be a prospect for at least a few days of better weather conditions, Mayor Hinton had the street cleaning department busy yesterday ridding the streets of Paris of the accumulation of snow and slush that had remained there since the last heavy snow. The aid of the Fire Department was brought to bear on the situation, and the heavy pressure from the fire hose soon cleaned the streets in fine shape and put to flight any germs that may have been lurking in the slush.

CANDIDATES WARNED OF NEW "CORRUPT PRACTICE ACT."

It is highly important for candidates for office in Kentucky to familiarize themselves with the provisions of the "Corrupt Practice Act," passed by the Legislature of 1916.

It is compulsory that each candidate file with the County Clerk or proper official an itemized statement of expenses incurred during his campaign, such as printing, stationery, stamps, stenographers, rent for public halls for speaking, and all other expenses incurred pertaining to his election. Such papers must be filed fifteen days before the primary, and also fifteen days before the regular election.

The penalty for failing to comply with this law, is a fine in any sum not to exceed $5,000, or to be confined in the county jail not to exceed six months, or both.

The BOURBON NEWS has been appointed as agent in Bourbon county to handle and sell the Thomas Kentucky Election Forms, which are used for this purpose. With these forms it is no trouble to keep an accurate account of expenditures, etc. These forms are reserved and protected by law by the Cadiz Record, of Cadiz, Ky.

All candidates are required to make these statements, and the easiest and best way is to purchase one of these forms now. The price is $1.50. Come in and see one, and give us your order. We have samples to show, but will have to send in orders to Cadiz for stock. We are going to send in an order next week. Let yours come with the rest.

THE WEATHER.

The weather forecast for the week beginning Sunday, March 11, as sent out from the Louisville branch of the U. S. Weather Bureau, is as follows:

For Ohio Valley and Tennessee: Local rain probable Sunday. Thereafter generally fair until Thursday or Friday, when rains are again probable; colder Sunday night and Monday; warmer Tuesday and Wednesday, and moderate thereafter.

Following a period of comparatively warm weather, from Friday to Sunday night, there succeeded a rainfall Sunday night which came near being a water course in the way the flood descended. The storm broke over Paris about ten o'clock Sunday night with a down-pour of rain, accompanied by a high wind, thunder and lightning, and continued unabated until nearly twelve o'clock.

So far as known there was no damage done in the city or the county by the storm.

Ohio, Indiana and parts of Kentucky were swept by a tornado Sunday night, doing great damage. Three persons were killed and four badly hurt at Cincinnati. Thirty houses were wrecked in Hyde Park, a suburb of that city. At Newcastle, Indiana, a score of persons were killed and over two hundred badly injured by the storm. One child was hurled over one hundred feet through the air by the force of the tornado. Kentucky was also hard hit in several places by the "zephyrs."

PARIS BOYS LOSE TWO; "INVINCIBLES" WIN AGAIN.

The Danville High School basketball team administered a defeat to the Paris High School team in a game at Danville, Thursday night, by a score of 18 to 16. It was a fast and close game and it was only after an extra five minutes of play that the Danville boys were able to carry away the honors. Veatch and Ford were the star players for Danville, while Burnett and Lavin starred for Paris.

The Paris team stopped at Nicholasville en route home Friday and sustained another defeat that night, when the Nicholasville High School team chalked up a score of 27 to 25 against the Paris boys. The Paris boys have the consolation of knowing they played exciting and close finishes in both the Danville and Nicholasville games, and both teams had to work hard to defeat them.

The girls' team of the Paris High School again upheld their reputation and claim to the title of "The Invincibles" by defeating the girls' team of the Nicholasville High School, in that City, Friday evening, by a score of 35 to 21. The game was a fast one from start to finish, and was the first game out of twenty-six that Nicholasville has lost. They claimed themselves champions of Kentucky, and are now evidently sorry they did not pass up the Paris girls. "The Invincibles" showed surprising speed and their team work was a marvel of basketball work. Their excellent work offset the defeat the boys sustained, and the latter gallantly did the honors to "The Invincibles."

TWO ENGINES COLLIDE; ENGINEER AND FIREMAN HURT

H. A. (Teddy) Shrock, engineer, and John Oliver, fireman, were both seriously injured Saturday morning about nine o'clock, when L. & N. freight engine No. 1427 southbound, crashed into the rear of freight engine No. 1324 at Flanagan, near Winchester. Shrock was engineer on Engine No. 1324.

The accident is believed to have been the result of the enginemen in charge of No. 1324 pulling out of the siding while the engine in the rear was going in the same direction on the main line, crashing into the other engine before Engineer John Clark could stop it. Engineer Clark and Fireman John Bramel escaped uninjured, but Shrock and Oliver were not so lucky.

A special train of two coaches was made up at Winchester and Engineer Shrock was brought to the Massie Memorial Hospital in this city after his injuries have been attended to by the L. & N. physicians at Winchester. His head was injured, and severely cut, several stitches being required to close the wounds. He was covered by the live coals from the firebox in his engine, and was severely burned from his hips to the ankles. His injuries, though serious, are not necessarily fatal, and it was stated that he would recover. Oliver's back was sprained and he was badly bruised by the coal from the tender falling on him. He was removed to his home in Livingston.

Both engines were badly damaged by the collision. Engineer Clark brought them to Paris to the local shops for repairs.

GOT'YA BEAT, SURE!

Sunday's Lexington Herald had an interesting story of how a letter written by Tommy Dewhurst, of Lexington, to an old schoolmate in Philadelphia, announcing the advent of an heir to the Dewhurst household, was delivered sixteen years after it had been written and mailed at Lexington.

THE NEWS can beat that! A news letter from our Millersburg correspondent, Mr. R. M. Caldwell, containing news items for last Friday's issue of the paper, was mailed at five o'clock at Millersburg, Wednesday afternoon, by Mr. Caldwell, as shown by the postmark. It was delivered to THE NEWS' postoffice box sometime Friday afternoon, after several inquiries had been made for it, one day too late for publication.

And Paris and Millersburg are only eight miles apart.

She Used to Be Cross Before Tanlac Cheered Her Up.

CAN WALK UP STAIRS NOW

"My daughters and grandchildren think I'm a different woman. I am. I even get down on the floor and romp with the little ones. A short time ago I was so cross I wasn't company for anyone."

This is the tribute that Mrs. H. E. Hill, 3551 West 63rd St., Cleveland paid to Tanlac.

"There was a time when I couldn't walk up to the corner store without fear I wouldn't be able to get back alone," she said. "But that time has passed—thanks to Tanlac. I was run-down for years and couldn't do my housework. I had to leave most of the work to my two daughters. Last winter was the worst and I was told that unless I got better I would not have long to live."

Lived in Damp Quarters. "Our house, too, might have made my condition worse. For it was on low ground and was a trifle damp. That made me worse. Before taking Tanlac I couldn't walk up and down the stairs. I had to sleep downstairs. I can get up without any help now."

"My back used to hurt me so bad that I couldn't stoop over. Now I can get down and mop the floors."

Was All Run Down. "My stomach gave me no end of trouble. No matter what I ate, gas formed and I had a heavy, bloated feeling. I was nervous, and even the noise made by my two little grandchildren in their play annoyed me."

"I surely am thankful for what Tanlac has done for me. And I feel so happy over it that I have already told several friends about the results it brings."

Get Tanlac today if you are not feeling right. Delay in health matters is dangerous.

Tanlac, the master medicine and reconstructive tonic, is sold exclusively in PARIS by Varden & Son. Other exclusive agents in nearby towns are as follows:

—Mr. E. B. Allen, of North Middletown, sold this week to Mr. Thos. P. Triplett, of Mt. Sterling, the noted saddle stallion, Bourbon Chief, Jr., $246, at a price which was not given out for publication.

Cincinnati Man Tells How to Shrive Up Corns or Callouses So They Lift Off With Fingers.

Ouch ! ! ! ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called Freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn or hardened callous stop soreness at once, and soon the corn or callous dries up and lifts right off without pain.

He says Freezone dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of Freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callous from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels. If your druggist doesn't have Freezone tell him to order a small bottle for you. (adv.)

FARMER BEHIND THE TIMES

His Wife Tells How She Has Lived for Many Years Without Modern Conveniences.

In the American Magazine a farmer's wife tells of some of her experiences. She says:

"My husband does not, or will not, realize that the world has moved, and that what was luxuries a generation ago are necessities now. One of my children died of typhoid fever, the germs of which were, no doubt, brought by flies from the house down the road where they had the disease; for we haven't a screen door in the house, and only a few cheap adjustable screens."

"We sleep on feather beds, because mattresses cost money, and the feather beds were in the house—a part of the furnishings that I married, when I took my husband for better or for worse. We have chairs with rounds missing, worn carpets, nicked dishes and cooking utensils that have long since outlived their usefulness."

"The house is inconvenient, and for that reason alone housework is much harder than it ought to be, and housework is hard enough in all conscience on a farm. We have no water in the house. For 25 years I have fetched and carried water. There are two steps between the kitchen and the dining room, which, by the way, was formerly a bedroom and has no place for a stove. The 'parlor' is across a hall from the main part of the house and is only opened on special occasions."

HOW TO MANICURE CANARY

It Is a Job That Must Be Done, But Extreme Care Should Always Be Used.

As a canary grows old, it will be noticed that its claws get long and catch on the perches and wires as it hops about the cage. In a state of nature the activity of the bird as it moves about on the ground or among twigs and limbs keeps the claws properly worn down. Confined in a cage, the bird's claws become entirely too long.

It is necessary, therefore, to trim them with a pair of sharp scissors every few months. It is important to watch the condition of the claws carefully, as by catching they may cause a broken leg. In each claw a slender blood vessel extends well down toward the tip. This may be seen on close examination through the transparent sheath of the claw. In trimming cut well beyond this canal and take special care not to break the leg while handling the bird.

In cage birds the horny covering of the bill, as well as the claws, sometimes becomes distorted through growth without sufficient wear. The tips of the mandibles may be pared down with a sharp knife, but care must be taken not to cut deep enough to reach the quick.

Be Prepared to Meet Trouble.

There is a serious side to life as well as a carefree one. The average mother should remember this and should impress upon her family the wisdom of being prepared to meet whatever trouble comes into the home.

Everyone has his or her burdens to bear, and the old-fashioned habit of coming forward and making collections for persons in trouble isn't in vogue these days. It is a good thing, too, that times have changed, for no one need be dependent upon public or private charity if he or she looks ahead, acknowledges his or her responsibilities and uses the proper means to meet them. As a rule it is always the extravagant and unsystematic person who has to call for aid; but the woman who looks at life from a business standpoint—who assumes her responsibilities—is always independent and never finds it necessary to seek assistance from others.

Owl Not Really Wise Bird.

Since it has been recognized that the owl is a beneficial bird, economically important as a destroyer of rats, mice and gophers, there is an increasing tendency to restore its classic significance. Like many people of deliberate manner and few words, owls are not as wise as they look. They are quite easily caught in traps. In case the barn in which the owls make their home catches fire the owls usually burn to death. They get along very well in captivity when they are comfortably housed and fed either mice or a variety of food, but they cannot live on a diet of raw pork or beef.

Syriac Language.

Syriac is one of the three groups of languages into which the old Aramaic of Assyria and Babylonia was developed, the other groups being the Chaldean and the Nabatean-Sabean.

The Syriac is emphatically a Christian literature language, the Bible was translated into it as was a deal of writing from the fourth to the tenth century, and it, instead of Latin, is the liturgical language of the Roman Catholics of Lebanon in Syria today.

The Syro-Chaldean is a variant of the Syriac, combining features of both the Syriac and Chaldean groups. It is found in use in Kurdistan and the Lake Urmia districts.

Nothing More.

"Anything doing in Plunkville?"

"Not a thing."

"But I see by the paper that many public improvements are contemplated."

"Contemplated is the word. Merely municipal castles in the air."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ACROSS THE WAY

By SUSAN E. CLAGETT.

The cottage sat somewhat back from the road and across from a big, old-fashioned house, the very homeliness of which suggested comfort. The girl leaning on the gate leading to the cottage looked from the one to the other and nodded her head with satisfaction.

"It will do, if I can only make the others see it," she thought. "Even if the roof leaks there must be one or two of the rooms that are habitable and the place will be a riot of beauty when the June roses are in bloom. However, I see its possibilities because I so desire it. The place is really forlorn."

"Stick to the possibilities," a pleasant voice said behind her. "When the weeds are cut and a few nails are driven into missing planks you will not know it."

The girl turned with a start, her eyes cold. She had not realized she had spoken aloud.

"It does look uncared for," the man continued, critically examining the cottage and its surroundings, "but I know its possibilities. If you wish, I will have it put in order at once."

"Are you the owner?"

"I was born here. Strange how one feels the years pass without coming back. I have always meant to come, but never did. I think," he said reflectively, "that I have been waiting for just this." He turned and looked at her for the first time. "You are a stranger to the place."

She nodded toward the big house across the way. "I am visiting friends, but I would like to remain all summer if the cottage is practicable."

"It will be ready when you are ready," he declared.

At the dinner table that night she told of what she had done. Margaret Alden listened with troubled face.

"How could you, Nan?" she said at last. "You know how we want you with us."

"I know," Nan answered soberly. "But I must lead my own life, Margaret. Over there will be home, across the way will be you, my dearest friends, to call upon when—"

"Did he say what brought him?" Tom Alden interrupted.

"Who?"

"The doctor—your prospective landlord." Then he chuckled. "I saw him in Washington ten days ago, but he said nothing about coming out. I wonder—yes, I did tell him you were staying with us. He seemed interested."

"Why, I never before saw the man." She had been in her home a month when the accident occurred that materially altered her outlook upon life. Up to that time she had been absorbed in her work as an illustrator and had succeeded beyond her utmost expectations. Then the seemingly impossible happened. She fell and broke her right arm and wrist—slipped upon the topmost step of the little stairway and fell to the bottom. Her mammy found her, a crumpled heap on the floor, and picked her up as Wallace Irwin knocked at the open door.

He did not hesitate. With skillful fingers and a sure knowledge as to what he was about he made the girl comfortable. As he put the finishing touches to the bandages she opened her eyes and looked straight into the keen gray ones above her. Even in her pain their expression puzzled her. She had seen that look in the eyes of other men, but that it should lie in Wallace Irwin's caused her wonderment and annoyance.

Nan drew more within herself and he knew her reserve was due to his one moment of self-betrayal. Thereafter he was on his guard, but being a man of swift action he could not long tolerate delay, and a few days after the accident he demanded her attention.

"Why did you run away from me two years ago, Nan?"

"Run away? Why should I?" She hesitated, looking at him oddly. "Is it really you? I did not know it."

"I have searched for you everywhere," he answered gravely.

"That was unnecessary." Her eyes flashed. "Uncle Dick had no right to make me a party to such a will-to-please out as he did his stocks and bonds. I preferred to make my own living, as I have done."

"True. But he did leave you to me with the stocks and bonds, and it was up to me to find you."

Her glance was curious. "Were you pleased to have a wife thrust upon you in so arbitrary a manner—to be forced to marry a girl, a stranger, because of the knowledge she would be penniless if you did not?"

He laughed. "I had seen you several times, and the venture did not look undesirable. But you gave me no chance to make good. That was unfair. As for the money, I don't want it, but I do want you. I want the opportunity to make you care. Will you give it to me?"

"If I did not feel like a bundle of gold certificates, I—perhaps—"

"Hang the money," he said roughly. "I can take care of you without it. But you are a little mixed. The certificates were mine, and I turned them over to the trustees the morning I met you here. I knew you would not come to me as long as I held them. Now, will you give me my chance?"

"If you really want it," she answered slowly. "I think I am glad to give it."

LOVE PRO TEM

By JOHN GREGORY.

Nona said it served her perfectly right. Nona was eighteen, still in school, still with ideals that touched the stars frequently. She could not understand how anything could excuse petty jealousy—that is, between engaged persons.

"I'm frankly, quite frankly, ashamed of you, Margaret," she said in her funny, decisive way, as they motored back from the Fenways. "Jerry is just as considerate and nice as he can be, and you really are fearfully unreasonable. As I understand it, he and Miss Douglass were acquainted long before he met you, and it was natural for him to talk with her after she had been away so long."

"I have no objection to Jerry's talking with his old friends," Margaret had answered frigidly.

"Jerry saw right through it, though. You should have seen his face when he stood behind you and heard you tell Mrs. Fenway you had been called home unexpectedly. I don't blame him one bit for staying."

"No one asked him to stay."

"But what are you going to do?"

"I'm going into town to stay with Teresa. She's giving a box party to-night, and has a reception to-morrow for Miss Cardonza."

"And Andy Forbes will be there," Nona fairly glared down at the utterly innocent face beside her. "I shall go, too. I shall go just to chaperon you."

When they arrived at Teresa's pretty home, she let Margaret absorb their hostess, and marshalled her plan for a campaign. First of all, she called upon the Fenways, and had a nice, comradely chat with Jerry. He was hard to manage. Margaret had acted ridiculously, he said, and with unpardonable rudeness to Mrs. Fenway. Miss Douglass had not remained over for the week-end at all. She was going on to the city.

With his promise to come in, at least for the last act, Nona turned her attention to Andy.

"I'm Margaret Everden's sister," she said over the telephone. "What? Yes, the youngest, Nona. Could you come up to Mrs. Brooke's please; just for a few moments—yes, right away, please, and ask for me. It's very important."

Andy was twenty-two, three years younger than Margaret, four years older than Nona. Those four years altered the mental perspective. Nona almost deferred to his opinions.

"You see, Margaret is temperamental, and it will take firmness and patience this time to keep her in line. I know you'd understand, and Jerry's a splendid fellow."

"Bully," assented Andy, looking at her admiringly.

"So, I thought if we'd make believe that we were tremendously struck with each other—just for to-night—it would help Jerry's case—don't you think so?"

Nona went back alone to the house, slipped quietly upstairs to her room and dressed for dinner. And when Mr. Forbes arrived she met him demurely, as became a younger sister who was not even a debutante yet. Margaret gave him her hand lingeringly.

"Andy, boy, you don't know how good it is to see you again."

"It is, isn't it?" Andy laughed. "Fine. Why didn't you tell me you had such a girl for a sister?"

And all through dinner there was the puzzled look in Margaret's eyes, and a little wistful droop to her lips. Already she began to feel the tug of regret. Andy, sitting next to her, was having a perfectly wonderful time talking to Nona across the centerpiece of mauve orchids and ferns. Later, he was by her side at the box party, and Nona had never looked so attractive.

All at once Nona glanced at the second box opposite where some late comers had just filed in. Nan Douglass was among them, tall and radiant, and behind her was a middle-aged man, with a decidedly distinguished air.

"That's Tailor Phelps, the new minister to Bolivia," Andy whispered over her shoulder. "They're to be married at Easter."

"They are?" Nona's smile was delicious as she turned to look at him. "That's the girl I was telling you about. And this is all for nothing, then. There isn't a bit of danger."

"I think there's plenty for me," said Andy, a bit soberly.

"But it's only for to-night," Nona assured him. "Nobody will ever find out we put it up." She leaned over to tell Margaret the news of the engagement, but Margaret's eyes were cold. Nona turned back with a sigh. "You know I don't believe I'm a diplomat at all," she told Andy ruefully.

"You're a darling," he said fervently. "I'm not going to be dropped after to-night. I want to see you and know you. Jerry and I are college mates. I'll get him on my side. Do you mind?"

There was a movement at the back of their box. Nona saw Jerry entering, looking decidedly fit in his evening clothes, his eyes seeking Margaret. And surely there was relief in hers as she welcomed him.

"Do you mind?" repeated Andy, doggedly.

And Nona's lashes dropped suddenly. "It was only to be love pro tem," she said.

"We'll start a new schedule," answered Andy.

SENATE EFFECTUALLY STOUTS FIBUSTERING.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The day for an extraordinary session of Congress to vest President Wilson with full and complete authority to arm American ships and protect American rights at sea now lays clear and open. Casting aside the traditions of more than a century, the Senate of the United States, on Thursday, by an overwhelming vote, 76 to 3, amended its rules to provide for a limitation on debate that would prevent any filibuster by a "little group of willful men," such as the maneuver which prevented the enactment of the President's armed neutrality resolution during the closing days of the last Congress.

In his recent statement attacking the Senators who blocked the armed ships measure, the President declared the unlimited-debate rule of the Senate was the reason which would make an extraordinary session of the Sixty-fifth Congress to consider the bill futile. Thursday night that reason no longer existed.

A few brief hours of debate overthrew the time-honored Senate privilege of unlimited debate—a privilege which had survived almost constant attack since the early days of the republic. Confronted with the President's demand that the way be cleared for action that would enable him to meet the greatest emergency the nation ever knew, 76 Senators voted for a rule which will allow two-thirds of the Senate to limit debate on any pending proposal.

Only three Senators, LaFollette, of Wisconsin; Gronna, of North Dakota and Sherman, of Illinois, all Republicans, voted against the rule. Senators LaFollette and Gronna were two of the 11 denounced by the President as the "little group of willful men represent ing no opinion but their own, who have rendered the great Government of the United States helpless and contemptible," through their fight on the armed neutrality measure, voted against cloture on the merits of the rule.

Life of Air Leaks Away.

Air seems to spoil easily. Air traveling through shafts and special air chambers—in fact, air going through anything that cuts it off from the ocean of atmosphere—loses some of its indescribable vitalizing qualities and is liable to cause weariness and a feeling of depression to those who habitually breathe in artificially ventilated houses. Scientific examination may show such air absolutely pure, but all the same it is poor stuff to take into the lungs. This also explains the real rock bottom difference between town and country air. Highly artificial food and highly artificial air, no matter how good they seem, are not the real stuffs themselves.—New York Press.

MILLERSBURG

—Mr. Roy Endicott is visiting friends at Covington.

—Miss Florence Vimont, who is among the sick, is not so well.

—Miss Elizabeth Miller, of Transylvania University, was at home from Friday and Monday.

—Mr. R. L. Powell was in Cincinnati, Monday, in company with Dr. W. G. Dalley, consulting Dr. Bettman relative to his condition.

—Mrs. W. F. Saunders and children returned from Florida, Friday, where they have spent the winter.

—Mr. Bryan McMurtry, of State University, Lexington, was the guest of Miss Margaret Allen, Sunday.

—An interesting basketball game was played at the M. C. Saturday afternoon between a picked team from the M. C. and the picked team from the Y. W. C. A. Chapter, which resulted in a score of 21 to 10 in favor of the visitors. We are glad that our girls did themselves the courtesy of allowing the visitors to win the game.

—The Chatham Concert Co. put on the third number of the Lyceum Course under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. of the M. C. at the M. C. auditorium, Friday evening. This is the best number that has been presented here in a long time. Every participant was an artist, and all did their work in a most creditable manner. They were the recipients of numerous encores, to which they responded liberally. They were greeted with a large audience, and all went home highly pleased, hoping to have them with us again. The last number of the Course will be given Friday evening, March 23.

—Mr. George Webster Reynolds, aged sixty-nine, died Saturday at 10:30 p. m. at his home, after a lingering illness of a complication of diseases. Mr. Reynolds was one of our most prominent farmers, and had resided in this community for about thirty years. He was born near Sharon, Bracken county, in 1848, and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds, who died when he was quite young. He was one of a family of three children, two sisters having preceded him to the grave. About twenty-five years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Emma Stoker. Two children were born to them, one son, Mr. George Elmore Reynolds, who has always resided with his parents, and Mrs. George T. Watkins, of London, Ky. He was a typical high-toned gentleman, well connected, and is well known through Central and Northern Kentucky. He was a nephew of the late Isaac Reynolds, of Bracken county, one of the most prominent citizens of the county. He was a devout member of the Presbyterian church, and for a number of years held the office of Elder. For several years he has been in failing health, and his death did not come as a surprise to his many friends and relatives. The funeral was held Monday at 2 p. m., at the Presbyterian church, conducted by his pastor, Rev. A. S. Venable. The active pall-bearers were the deacons of the church, while the Elders were honorary pall-bearers. Interment in Millersburg Cemetery. A large concourse of friends and relatives, many of whom were from a distance, followed the remains to their last resting place.

—The State Y. W. C. A. Chapter was in session at Millersburg from Friday until Monday. Delegates from the various colleges were arriving during all day Friday. An informal reception was given them in the early evening of Friday. Two sessions were held during the day Saturday, at which the regular routine of business was gone through with. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the M. C., as was the meeting Saturday evening. The public was invited to the Saturday evening meeting, and a large audience was in attendance. Two lectures were delivered, the first being a short address by Miss Poynter, of St. Louis, one of the Executive Board, and Miss Tupper, of New York, National President. They were both good. The body attended various churches Sunday morning, and held a short open session in the afternoon at the M. C. auditorium. In the evening the meeting held an open session at Methodist church, at which time Miss Tupper delivered another address. All the meetings were profitable, and the people of Millersburg were glad to have the association with us. Many persons offered homes, which were not accepted, because there were not delegates enough to fill them.
